

In cognito...

Joseph C. Eco, EdD

And in horizons we set our clouds
Racing through the valiant winds.

Until we reach the end.
And in this life, we either die or be forgotten.

I chose to die, for memories last.
But to silence of the horizons, it'll disappear.